Arrangements in many different styles - licensed where appropriate

Suites, medleys and original compositions

Basic scoring formats adapted to order for different saxophone ensembles

jonhalton@simplyreeds.co.uk

Jon Halton read music at King's College, Cambridge University, and subsequently obtained a Ph.D. degree in music theory and analysis. He stayed on in Cambridge to build up a busy career as a musician: as instrumental and theory tutor, as music notation and preparation service, and as performer: on clarinet and baritone sax with Simply Reeds, and as freelance piano accompanist, jazz pianist and bass player.

He has written for Faber Music, Alfred Music, Music Sales Group, the National Youth Jazz Orchestra (NYJO - Stanza Music), the National, Yorkshire and London Saxophone Choirs, the Perse Schools in Cambridge, the Elgar Society, Oakham School, Cambridge Youth Wind Orchestra, Cambridge Wind Band, and for many saxophone and clarinet ensembles and symphonic wind bands across the U.K. and in several other countries.

Jon composes and arranges mainly for sax and clarinet ensembles and wind bands, but he has also composed music for choir and for symphony orchestra, and has orchestrated music for film and television. His Concerto for Saxophone Quartet and Orchestra (opus 29) was recently performed in Cambridge by Simply Reeds and the K.239 Chamber Orchestra.

MUSIC FOR SAXOPHONE ENSEMBLES

Catalogue from January 2011

Welcome to Halton Music! Our sheet music can reach you in one of two ways: either sent by email as PDF files or posted as printed material. The music is arranged using Sibelius software, and scores are supplied (at written pitch) for each piece.

The members of the saxophone family are coded as follows, in descending order of size: Sno = E♭ soprano sax, S = B♭ soprano sax, A = E♭ alto sax, T = B♭ tenor sax, B = E♭ baritone sax, Bs = B♭ bass sax.

Standard and range

The parts are designed to be of Grade 6-8 standard (except for the early grade/student material listed in Category 11 below). The key of the music is determined by the range of the instruments involved in the scoring. The written upper limit is high F#, although occasionally the soprano sax parts (usually in heavier scoring formats) require high G. The baritone sax parts make much use of low A.

With just a few specific exceptions (listed in Category 9 below) – any piece can be scored to order, for any reasonable combination of saxes! e.g. SABB quartet, AATT quartet, SAAT quartet, SAATTB sextet, AAAATTBB octet, SSSAAATTTBBB saxophone choir. You will need to indicate your exact scoring format preference when you make an order.

Quartet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is SATB quartet. Although the more effective scorings would be those in which the outer parts are at least two sax sizes apart, scorings such as AATT and TTTB can be easily arranged.

Sextet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is SAATTB sextet. This is built up from the basic quartet scoring: both of the two additional “inner” parts are designed to be optional, and so either of these may be omitted to yield a viable quintet scoring. For example, the SAATTB sextet may, by omitting the alto 2 and tenor 2 parts, reduce down to SAATB, SATTB, and of course SATB. The alto 2 part (as it appears on the score) is designed to be slightly more important than the tenor 2 part, so SAATB would be slightly preferable to SATTB. However, for greater flexibility, the provided set of parts includes (at no extra cost) “alternative” transpositions of both!

Octet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is SSAATTBB octet. If a septet scoring is required, two of the parts would be telescoped to form one (for example, the two baritone parts). Due to the expanded range necessary for the larger number of saxes, the octet scoring of any piece is arranged in a different key from the quartet/sextet scoring.

Saxophone “choir” scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is the twelve-piece SnoSSAAATTTBBBs, the recognized “saxophone choir” format – for this, the basic arrangement is slightly extended in duration. For very large sax choirs, the number of players per part may vary – and extremes such as Soprillo Sax and Tubax (contrabass sax) may be added!

Alternative transpositions of parts

Alternative transpositions of parts may be provided at £1 each. The most frequently-ordered scoring format in such cases are S/A ATB quartet, in which the highest part is provided for alto 0 as an alternative to soprano, and SAT T/B quartet, in which the lowest part is provided for tenor 2 (with some changes of octave) as an alternative to baritone. The key of the music in such scoring formats may be different from that of the SATB, AATB or SATT versions of the same piece (depending on the piece’s melody range).

Optional extra parts

Optional extra parts may be provided at £2 each: for example, if you wish to expand from quartet to quintet (then, if you wish to expand to sextet, you could order the two extra parts from the sextet scoring). Optional extra parts for rhythm section instruments, such as piano, guitar (chords), bass and drums, may be added at £2 each.

Other requirements

The basic scoring formats can be even more “tailor-made”, as follows:

All pieces from the catalogue may be slightly simplified on request, for the use of players of about Grade 5 standard (indeed, some pieces - Moondance, Sway, Op.21a and op.26a - are already a little easier than most).

All pieces from the catalogue are available as arrangements for sax trio, e.g. SAT, ATB, costing £2 less than quartets (it must be admitted that such trio scorings are built “downwards” from the basic quartet format and thus lose some original harmony).

All pieces may be arranged for any different ensemble, such as a mixed group of clarinets and saxes, or of woodwind and brass, or a wind quintet (flute, oboe, clarinet, sax, bassoon), etc.

More difficult “soli” sections (for diploma level players), or extra sections to feature improvisation, may be added.

Please feel free to send an email (or phone) message if you need to provide detail of such individual requirements.

First page views

An expanded copy of the first page (fpv) of the score of any piece(s) can be emailed or posted to you free of charge, as a “taster” before making a decision to order the actual piece.

Ordering and payment

Orders may be made in the form of an email (or phone) message, or by using the order form template (at the end of the catalogue).

The prices listed in the catalogue apply to music which is to be sent by email as PDF files.

If you would like the sheet music to be posted as printed material, the price of each piece increases: by £3 for any piece(s) scored for up to and including eight instruments, and by £4 for any piece(s) scored for over eight instruments.

Postage and packing (p+p) costs £2 for any posted order.

Payment may be made either by internet banking:

IBAN = GB10 BARC 2017 1990 436151 BIC = BARCGB22

or by cheque, made payable to Jon Halton, and sent to the address listed below.

When an individual order, to be sent by email as PDF files, would cost a total of at least £120, a 5% discount will then apply.

When an individual order, to be posted within the UK as printed material, would cost a total of at least £150 (excluding p+p), a 5% discount will then apply, and p+p will be free of charge.

jonhalton@simplyreeds.co.uk

Jon Halton read music at King's College, Cambridge University, and subsequently obtained a Ph.D. degree in music theory and analysis. He stayed on in Cambridge to build up a busy career as a musician: as instrumental and theory tutor, as music notation and preparation service, and as performer: on clarinet and baritone sax with Simply Reeds, and as freelance piano accompanist, jazz pianist and bass player.

He has written for Faber Music, Alfred Music, Music Sales Group, the National Youth Jazz Orchestra (NYJO - Stanza Music), the National, Yorkshire and London Saxophone Choirs, the Perse Schools in Cambridge, the Elgar Society, Oakham School, Cambridge Youth Wind Orchestra, Cambridge Wind Band, and for many saxophone and clarinet ensembles and symphonic wind bands across the U.K. and in several other countries.

Jon composes and arranges mainly for sax and clarinet ensembles and wind bands, but he has also composed music for choir and for symphony orchestra, and has orchestrated music for film and television. His Concerto for Saxophone Quartet and Orchestra (opus 29) was recently performed in Cambridge by Simply Reeds and the K.239 Chamber Orchestra.

MUSIC FOR CLARINET ENSEMBLES

Catalogue from January 2011

Welcome to Halton Music! Our sheet music can reach you in one of two ways: either sent by email as PDF files or posted as printed material. The music is arranged using Sibelius software, and scores are supplied (at written pitch) for each piece.

The members of the clarinet family are coded as follows, in descending order of size: E = E<sub>b</sub> (soprano) clarinet, C = standard (B<sub>b</sub> soprano) clarinet, A = E<sub>b</sub> alto clarinet, B = B<sub>b</sub> bass clarinet, Ca = E<sub>b</sub> contralto clarinet, Cb = B<sub>b</sub> contrabass clarinet.

Standard and range

The parts are designed to be of Grade 6-8 standard (except for the early grade/student material listed in Category 11 below). The key of the music is determined by the range of the instruments involved in the scoring. No standard (B<sub>b</sub> soprano) clarinet part is written above high G, and no other clarinet part (E<sub>b</sub>, alto or bass) is written above high D. The bass clarinet parts include optional use of low D.

With just a few specific exceptions (listed in Category 9 below) – any piece can be scored to order, for any reasonable combination of clarinets! e.g. CCCC quartet, CCAB quartet, ECAB quartet, ECCCAB sextet, ECCCABBCb octet, ECCCCABBBCCaCb clarinet choir. You will need to indicate your exact scoring format preference when you make an order.

Quartet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is CCCB quartet. Although the more effective scorings would be those in which the outer parts are at least two clarinet sizes apart, scorings such as ECCC and CCCC can be easily arranged.

Sextet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is CCCCAB sextet. This is built up from the basic quartet scoring: both of the two additional “inner” parts are designed to be optional, and so either of these may be omitted to yield a viable quintet scoring. For example, the CCCCAB sextet may, by omitting the clarinet 4 and alto clarinet parts, reduce down to CCCC, CCCAB, and of course CCCB. The clarinet 4 part (as it appears on the score) is designed to be slightly more important than the alto clarinet part, so CCCCAB would be slightly preferable to CCCAB. However, for greater flexibility, the provided set of parts includes (at no extra cost) “alternative” transpositions of both!

Octet scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is ECCCCABB octet. If a septet scoring is required, two of the parts would be telescoped to form one (for example, the two bass clarinet parts). Due to the expanded range necessary for the larger number of clarinets, the octet scoring of any piece is arranged in a different key from the quartet/sextet scoring.

Clarinet “choir” scoring

The standard (and most frequently-ordered) scoring format is ECCCABCaCb, the recognized “clarinet choir” format, with greater numbers of players on the standard clarinet and bass clarinet parts (the “choir” format is therefore rather different to that of octet) - for this, the arrangement is slightly extended in duration.

Alternative transpositions of parts

Alternative transpositions of parts may be provided at £1 each. The most frequently-ordered scoring formats in such cases are CCC C/B quartet, in which the lowest part is provided for clarinet 4 (with some changes of octave) as an alternative to bass clarinet, and CC C/A B quartet, in which the third part is provided for clarinet 3 as an alternative to alto clarinet. The key of the music in such scoring formats may be different from that of the CCCC, CCCB or CCAB versions of the same piece (depending on the piece’s melody range).

Optional extra parts

Optional extra parts may be provided at £2 each: for example, if you wish to expand from a quartet to a quintet (then, if you wish to expand to sextet, you could order the two extra parts from the sextet scoring). Optional extra parts for rhythm section instruments, such as piano, guitar (chords), bass and drums, may be added at £2 each.

Other requirements

The basic scoring formats can be even more “tailor-made”, as follows:

All pieces from the catalogue may be slightly simplified on request, for the use of players of about Grade 5 standard (indeed, some pieces - Moondance, Sway, Op.21a and op.26a - are already a little easier than most);

All pieces from the catalogue are available as arrangements for clarinet trio, e.g. CCC, CCB, costing £2 less than quartets (it must be admitted that such trio scorings are built “downwards” from the basic quartet format and thus lose some original harmony);

All pieces may be arranged for any different ensemble, such as a mixed group of clarinets and saxes, or of woodwind and brass, or a wind quintet (flute, oboe, clarinet, horn, bassoon), etc.

More difficult “soli” sections (for diploma level players), or extra sections to feature improvisation, may be added.

Please feel free to phone or send an email if you need to provide detail of such individual requirements.

First page views

An expanded copy of the first page (fpv) of the score of any piece(s) can be emailed or posted to you free of charge, as a “taster” before making a decision to order the actual piece.

Ordering and payment

Orders may be made in the form of an email (or phone) message, or by using the order form template (at the end of the catalogue).

The prices listed in the catalogue apply to music which is to be sent by email as PDF files.

If you would like the sheet music to be posted as printed material, the price of each piece increases: by £3 for any piece(s) scored for up to and including eight instruments, and by £4 for any piece(s) scored for over eight instruments.

Postage and packing (p+p) costs £2 for any posted order.

Payment may be made either by internet banking:

IBAN = GB10 BARC 2017 1990 436151 BIC = BARCGB22

or by cheque, made payable to Jon Halton, and sent to the address listed below.

When an individual order, to be sent by email as PDF files, would cost a total of at least £120, a 5% discount will then apply.

When an individual order, to be posted within the UK as printed material, would cost a total of at least £150 (excluding p+p), a 5% discount will then apply, and p+p will be free of charge.
